RONNY JACKSON

REPUBLICAN FOR CONGRESS

Texan • Veteran • Physician • Leader

Dr. Ronny Jackson is a retired Rear Admiral in the United States Navy. After 25 years of active duty service in the military, he is living in Amarillo, working to continue his public service as a Member of Congress representing the people of the 13th congressional district.

Driven by service to our nation and to Texas, Dr. Ronny Jackson traded his cowboy boots for combat boots when he joined the United States Navy in 1995. And now, he is coming back to Texas to fight for our Texas Values in Congress.

“I was born and raised in Texas and I know the meaning of hard work and service. I’ve spent the last 25 years wearing the Uniform of our Country and fighting for the same Texas values that were instilled in me by my parents and my community. In Congress, I will continue to fight for those Texas values.”

Ronny Jackson is a U.S. Navy Veteran. Use of his military rank, job titles, and photographs in uniform does not imply endorsement by the U.S. Department of Defense or the Department of the Navy.
